—We have received another account of the entertainment held at Wide Awake on the 20th ult, but having already published the program we give the following concluding sentences of the second report received: "Long before the program was finished the house was closely packed, and one noticeable feature was the large proportion of well-dressed ladies, who would have done credit to any eastern town. After this followed the supper. Many were the trophies and triumphs of culinary skill that were mined from every conceivable place. Abundance of everything testified to the liberality of the ladies. Abundance of everything testified to the liberality of the ladies. Abundance of everything testified to the liberality of the ladies. Abundance of everything testified to the liberality of the ladies. No sign of bad crops here. Everybody was happy and smiling. Everybody had all they required—an attral outcome of the surpassing fertility and great adaptability of the soil in this neighborhood to the plow and stock. Although numbers are here, contented and prosperous, many more are yet destined to discover that the true Paradise of the farmer of the Nori-West is in the district of Wide Awake."

NORTHWEST GOVERNMENT.

NORTHWEST GOVERNMENT.

Mr. J. R. Neff, member of the Northwest Legislative Assembly for Moosomin, has been called to Ottawa, doubtless in connection with affairs of state. Mr. Neff is one of the two appointed by the majority under the ordinance passed at the close of the recent session of the Assembly, to advise with His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor in respect to the Territorial finances. We understand that Mr. Neff is to be called on, or has been called on to fosm a new Advisory Council of four to, act with the Lieutenant-Governor, as the fweed-Neff Ordinance is to be, or has been, votoed by the Domion Government. Mr. Neff is one of the majority who condemned Royal's bungling and stood firm for au Advisary Conneil responsible to the Legislative Assembly, and possessing powers not secondary to the sweet will of the irresponsible appointed who sits in the Lieutenant-Governors chair. Though, Mr. Neff, has been called on to form a new Advisory Conneil there is no indication that the new Board will have more power than its predecessor, led by Dr. Br. It. The country will not be satisfied with this. The position given the first Advisory Conneil by the concessions of His Honor was acceptable to the people because it was supposed they possessed executive powers, which the Lieutenant-Governor was bound to respect. But when it was found that His Honor could accept or reject their advicejust as he pleased dissatisfaction. when it was found that His Honor could accept or reject their advice just as he pleased dissatisfaction arose, and with good reason. The majority of the people of the Territories do not favor immediate responsible government, with all its attendant expense, but they certainly are not satisfied to be ruled by so incapable and bungling a man as Royal bas shown himself to be. True, he began well, but soon made a terrible mess of our Government. a terrine mess of our Government affairs. The question is now whispered about, Will the Dominion Government remove him from among a people who have no other feeling for him but contempt?

DANGERS OF THE WIRE

It is enough to make one tired, or, to use an expression lately coined by a contemporary, to make one sick at the stomach, to see the leading daily papers publish long editorial articles in reference to deaths by the electric wires, while they are silent, to say the least, in reference to an evil which causes many thousand more deaths than thoy. No doubt the electric wires should be so protected as to minimize their danger, and all that is said in reference to them is quite appropriate. But it It is enough to make one tired, silent, to say the Teast, in reference to an evil which causes many thousand more deaths than thoy. No doubt the electric wires should be so protected as to minimize their danger, and all that is said in reference to them is quite appropriate. But it must be a very line discrimination that can thunder out so strongly on an evil that at most has caused a small number of deaths, while in reference to the evils of the liquor traffic, which causes a thousand reference to the evils of the liquor traffic, which causes a thousand deaths to one of the electric wire, the same papers are either silent sides to destroy that the same papers are either silent sides to destroy that the Makalob to revolt. the same papers are either silent or oppose all efforts to destroy that withering blight. If those papers were as strong in their desunciations of the greater evil in proportion to the lives it destroys as they are of the lesser, the politicians would quickly do semething different from trimming their sails to suit the whiskey vote, and the devastating liquor traffic would soon be utterly destroyed.
